

Greenbelt Band Has Served 4 Years; 26 Charter Members Now In Service

The Greenbelt Community Band which entertained so many of us this summer has been in existence since July, 1940. The young people who compose the band range in age from about twelve to twenty-one, although the original band accepted children as young as seven. No previous musical experience or knowledge is required.

The idea of a community band originated in February, 1940. Used instruments were secured through the Farm Security Administration and repaired in time for the first rehearsal on July 12. There was much noise and little music, since very few of the children had any previous experience, and first had to be taught to play their instruments.

The first Parents Board meeting was held July 16, when a constitution and by-laws were adopted. Membership was restricted to young people under twenty-one. An initiation fee of $1 was decided upon, with a rehearsal charge of 35 cents per week. The government of the Band is in the hands of the Parents' Board, composed solely of parents of the members.

Only eight remain of the original 65 in the band. Twenty-six of the charter members are now in the service, as are also two of the former directors. Paul Garrett, the original director, is now in the South Pacific. He formerly played clarinet with the National Symphony Orchestra. The second director, Mr. Myers, is now with the band at Ft. Meade.

Present Director Dana Garrett, brother of Paul, a cornetist, was once a member of Sousa's band. He also directs a police boy's band in Washington.

Since 1941, in addition to the regular band, a feeder band has been organized in order to train replacements for the regular band. New members are being added to the feeder band as instruments are available or if the prospective member owns his own instrument. As the child becomes competent he or she is graduated to the big band.

According to John Colliver, president of the Parents Board, the bass section of the band needs building up. "As soon as a youngster gets big enough to handle a bass instrument, the service gets him," he explains with a smile.

At present there are 44 members in the regular band, and 28 in the feeder band. Both practice Friday evenings in sessions lasting from 5 to 9:30 p. m. Several of the regular band members play in the Greenbelt Orchestra, and Mahlon Eshbough's popular young dance band is composed entirely of musicians who got their start with the community band.

Further details on the regular and feeder bands may be secured from John W. Colliver, 26-B Ridge Road, Gr. 3661, or R. O. Taylor, 4-F Ridge Road, Gr. 5911.

A recreation center for the young people of this community was the demand of 40 residents representing 25 organizations at a special meeting with the Town Council Tuesday night. Out of the two-hour discussion emerged a committee to mold the varying proposals into a plan of action.

The five civic leaders elected by the group to work with the Town Council are: Mrs. Leon Benefiel, Paul Barnhart, Mrs. Lloyd Nelson, Mrs. Joseph Long, and Mrs. J. P. Murray. Mrs. Benefiel was named chairman for the group.

Two principal problems to be worked out by this committee, the council members and Town manager James Gobbel are adequate financing and agreement on what facilities the building should include. There was little agreement at Tuesday night's session on these problems, although some sort of a tax program was generally approved and there was strong insistence that the project should be carried on with young people in mind.

A community building for Greenbelt's meetings and indoor recreation is as old a proposal as the town itself, but all plans to date have been without avail. After the town's population had doubled without additional school and recreation facilities being provided the problem became acute. Many organizations have been barred from use of the Elementary School because of lack of space. The theater, the reception room at the Greenbelt Consumer Services office, the American Legion house on Branchville Road, the Athletic Clubhouse, private homes and the out of doors have all been pressed into service to capacity. The local drug store had been serving as the sole congregating place for 'teen age boys and girls until the Athletic Club opened its clubhouse to this group one night a week beginning last month. A Town Council proposal of last spring for a combination field house and youth center at the edge of Braden Field to be built this fall failed to materialize. One group of youngsters talked with Consumer Services leaders about a soda bar to be built over the barber and beauty shops, but this idea was vetoed by F.P.H.A. engineers.

News of this week's special meeting spread rapidly throughout town with the help of several women particularly concerned for the need of Greenbelt's boys and girls. Some of the persons attending

Wealthiest State Educates Least

Children's education was the main topic discussed at the regular meeting of the Greenbelt Citizens Assn. last Monday night. President of the Association Wells Harrington gave a succinct account of the contents and purpose of the Education Finance act (also known as the Federal Aid to Education Bill), a bill which has been introduced by Congressman Ramspeck of Georgia, and which now is in the Committee on Education awaiting enough signatures on the petition to have it reported out. This bill is intended to help raise the level of educational standards throughout the country by grants of Federal money for teachers, salaries, textbooks, etc.

The interest of the members in the bill was such that a committee was appointed to make a thorough study of the bill and report on it to the membership for approval. Plans were also discussed for getting together with other civic groups in Maryland to find out why it is that Maryland, which is among the 10 wealthiest states in the Union, is the 40th in the amount of money spent on education.

Action On A Community Building

Greenbelt is going to have a community recreation building. It may be big or it may be small. Perhaps it will be for young people only or perhaps it will serve all residents. The cost may come out of taxation or from private subscription, or both. A hundred details will need to be argued to a settlement on the location, floor plans, and ing about a recreation building are just about at an end.

Management. These things are details now, and seven years of talk. Anyone who watched 40 citizens, representing nearly every organization in town, take the floor at Tuesday night's Town Council meeting could have no doubts about getting the building under way at last. After showing in unmistakable terms the need for a community building with particular reference to the requirements for children and adolescents, the residents offered proposals for financing the project.

And in talking of costs came the acid test of this town's determination to put up the structure we have needed for these seven years. There was little discussion of Federal funds. These people said "We want to pay for this ourselves — through taxes or donations, or in both ways." Several of those present pointed out that this was the only town they knew that had no taxes. Others present were willing to put their money on the line there and then for the project.

This is not the "government town" of seven years ago where everything was "free for the asking" according to Greenbelt's critics. Our people did not "go soft" under the Federal paternalism as was predicted by those hostile to the public housing program. Greenbelters are asking no favors. They are going to build themselves a community center for their young people, and they are going to pay for it themselves.

Population Stability

We have commented so frequently on Greenbelt's high turnover rate in residence, that we feel a little strange writing now about our permanent families and population stability. It is quite a new experience, and indeed, something we had not suspected until the Town Administration office released some new figures last week.

Of the original 885 families who moved into Greenbelt, 313 are still here. So much emphasis has been put on the population's turnover which reached 50 percent in a year at one time, that most of us quite lost sight of the fact that a large nucleus of semi-permanent neighbors has been here all the time. This makes us a more normal community than we had realized. And the revelation knocks into a cocked hat our ever-present excuse of a rapid turnover in population whenever any community task seemed difficult or any project faced failure. We shall have to find a new excuse for our weaknesses.

Register Tuesday!

Only 17 Greenbelters registered Tuesday to vote in this precinct November 7. Of course several hundred are already safely registered on earlier dates, but with only 17 new voters responding to last week's call there remain a large number who have declared their intention to become Maryland voters but who have not yet registered. These residents will be unable to help pick Congressmen and the President in the general elections unless they register next Tuesday, October 10, at the American Legion house on the Branchville road. This is the precinct polling place for Greenbelt, and can be reached by walking or driving or taking a bus out Southway.

Tuesday is your last chance. If you have any doubt about the status of your registration take time Tuesday to find out.

ORGANIZATIONS ASK

ing the Council hearing were officially named to represent organizations interested in the problem. Others came as officers of organizations. Each person was given the opportunity to speak, and the brief, concise statements drew praise from the three councilmen present and from Manager Gobel.

Spokesmen outlined the need of recreation building from the varying points of view of community groups, and then turned their attention to financing. Mayor Morrison informed those present that a building to meet minimum requirements would cost about $35,000 including heating, light, club rooms, and a "coke" bar. Although he admitted that some town funds might be available the mayor pointed out that they were wholly insufficient to meet the considerable cost.

Mrs. John P. Murray, representing the Parent-Teachers Association, suggested using the money set aside for the Victory Day celebration as an aid toward the building fund so that the structure would serve as a permanent monument of victory and a useful one.

Hartford Downs and Paul Barnhart both presented the possibilities of issuing bonds so that the money would be available for an early start on the construction. There was unanimous support for the levying of town taxes, and it was pointed out that Greenbelt is one of few towns without local taxation at present.

Details as to the type of building and its use found no common meeting ground. A bowling alley was one item suggested to help defray expenses of upkeep. There was disagreement on the question of whether the project should be exclusively for children and adolescent groups or whether it should be made available to adults as well.

Members of the special committee elected Tuesday night say they expect early action, and are already at work to present the Town Council and the town administration with a workable plan for proceeding.

GREENBELTERS IN UNIFORM

By MARY JANE TOWNSEND

Glancing around Greenbelt this week-end we spied quite a few former Greenbelt High boys now in uniform. For instance, there was Jack Huntington, S 1-c, former piano player with the Greenbelt Serenaders and James Ourand, Pfc., U.S.A., one of the '44 February graduates.

Louis "Texas" Armstrong was home on a five day pass after completing three months schooling in the Aviation Cadet Corps program. It is reported that Tex is making out very well in his grades. Good luck to you, Texas.

We saw Billy Joyce frantically racing down the street last Sunday with a ditty bag in one hand and his train ticket in the other. Upon inquiry we discovered that S 1-c Billy was due to catch a train back to his base at one o'clock. The time we saw him: 12:30.

Herbert Sully, former Packer's left end, was home on a week-end pass last week. Another Aviation Cadet, Herbert was disappointed that so many of his "side-kicks" were gone, although he was happy to see Louis Armstrong, formerly mentioned in this column and also a Cadet.

Joe Cashman, S 3-c and Danny Jones, S 2-c were back on the football field after nearly a year's absence. By unanimous approval Joe and Danny were permitted to prove that they still had what it takes by being allowed to fight for the Packers again. Danny and Joe were the original organizers of the now up and coming Greenbelt team, and were co-captains for quite a while.

Joe Lewis, S 2-c is reported at Camp Peary, Va. In a recent letter Joe stated he is now training for the Seabees.

Pvt. Vernon Richards, an ex-employee of the Greenbelt theatre is now stationed at North Fort Lewis, Wash. Vernon was known as the original Greenbelt Romeo, but writes that we may now simply call him "Ye olde Timber Wolfee".

Miss Frances Marley formerly of 12-H Parkway, will complete her basic training in the WAC at Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga. this week.

Seaman 2-c Pete Greene returned Sept. 30th after 6 months overseas, for a well earned 14 day leave. Pete serves on one of Uncle Sam's battle wagons which took part in the invasion of the Normandy beachhead and the landings in Southern France. Pete stopped at Ireland, England, Africa, Sicily and Italy. His shore address is 60-K Crescent Road, where he lives with his wife and son.

Also home on military leave last week, were "Cliff" Cockill of 23-S Ridge Rd.; Pasquale Graziano of 1-B Southway; Ben Goldfaden of 6-T Ridge Road and "Al" Schaffer of 25-G Ridge Road.

Second Lieutenant Lillian Severe of Hyattsville, formerly employed at the Greenbelt Hospital, is on her way home from India and Burma, according to word received from her mother. Miss Severe left this country in May, 1943.

Good night wherever you are!

Republican Viewpoint Is Feature For October 13 Meeting Of Series By Citizens Ass'n On Election

Republicans will have their inning here Friday night, October 13, the second of a series of Citizens Association meetings concentrating attention to the coming election.

Blanchard Randall, who will oppose Senator Millard E. Tydings at the polls November 7, is coming to Greenbelt as speaker for the evening, according to Carl W. Hintz, program chairman.

Mr. Randall will present the Republican viewpoint on the current campaign for political minded Greenbelters. A lifelong Republican he was graduated from Johns Hopkins University in 1914 and served in World War I rising from the ranks to the grade of captain. From 1919 to 1932 he was in the grain exporting business and from 1933 to 1942 served as president of the Mortgage Guaranty Company. For the past two years he has been manager of War Production Board's salvage division, and deputy director for this region. He has been active in civic affairs in Baltimore over a period of years.

Program Chairman Hintz has stated, "This is a wonderful opportunity for the people of Greenbelt to learn the views of one of the men running for high office. With the end of the war in prospect, at least, the making of the peace treaty assumes a large place in our thinking—and we all know that the U. S. Senate controls the treaty making power of the U. S."

This special meeting by the Citizens Association will start at 9 p. m. The Greenbelt Band practices in the Auditorium every Friday evening, but for this occasion band Leader J. W. Colliver has offered to close the practice early enough to permit the political rally at 9 o'clock.

Wells Harrington, Citizens Association president, expects the attendance to be large, inasmuch as the first program in this elections series—the September meeting devoted to a study of the CIO Political Action Committee—stirred up wide interest. It has also been pointed that candidates for office have usually by-passed Greenbelt's voters in their campaigns.

Knights Tame Tigers With 33-0 Score Sunday

A well-conditioned Knight eleven with well-balanced reserve support got a good start in the first period when Martone kicked to the Tigers 20. An alert Knight back, Cragin, intercepted Sanders long pass and returned the ball to the Tigers 32. In a series of plays, the Knights were knocking on the Tigers goal, but failed to score when Baxter fumbled on the 3 yd. line.

Immediately, the Tigers, taking advantage of an open attack, gained a first down when Sanders completed a pass to Link. However, the Knights closed their formation and held Jernberg on downs. In a series of plays Baxter went over for a six pointer. Scott bolted a pass to Baxter for the extra point. After the next kick off, the Knights recovered the ball on their 45 yd. line and marched down the field with successive drives and passes, and scored when Cragin went over on a sweep. Extra point was made when Littleton went over on an end run.

In the second period, Marton got off a long kick to the Tigers 10 yd. line where Bauers was hit hard by the fast charging Knight, Plackett. However, in a series of plunges and reverses, with Jernberg, Sanders, Bauers and Waldo handling the ball on their 40 yard line. Martone intercepted a bullet pass and raced 50 yards for the third score. Scott failed to kick the point.

The second half opened when Bauers kicked to Boyer on the 40 yd. line, who advanced the ball to the 48 yd. line. The Tigers held and Cragin kicked on the third down to the Tigers 30. Knox snagged Jernberg's pass. Again the Knights picked up steam with energetic reserves. Scott tallied in the middle of the 3rd period for another score. The point play failed.

In the latter part of the last period, Littleton sliced off tackle for a fifteen run for the fifth score. The game ended when J. William battd th Tigers remaining hope of passing for a score.

Greenbelt Packers Win Over Laurel Police Boys Club 25-0

In a lively game featured by the local team's hard blocking and tackling, the Greenbelt Packers out-played and out-charged a heavier Laurel team here last Sunday.

A large and enthusiastic crowd witnessed one of the best plays ever seen on the local grid-iron, a block executed Sonny Herbert on the Laurel fullback, which enabled Greenbelt to gain an additional 15 yards on a kick runback.

The game opened with Laurel receiving the kick-off. Unable to gain, they kicked and the Packers promptly marched down the field, Rhine grabbing Wolfe's 20 yard pass for the initial score. The conversion was wide. The second quarter found Danny Jones and Red Cashman, last year's stars, back on the team. Drives by Cookson and Jones ripped the Laurel team open and Jones went through center for the second touchdown, and place-kicked for the extra point.

The third period was climaxed by Donny Wolfe's sprint, around right-end, where aided by nice blocking he went 22 yards for the third touchdown. The try for the extra point was low. In the 4th period the Packers pushed the Laurel team back to their 35 yard line. In a desperate attempt to score, the Laurel fullback dropped back to pass; he was rushed by the Greenbelt line and Winstead partially blocked his pass, deflecting it into the arms of Dick Morris, Packer end, who raced to the goal line for the final counter.

Rhine and Morris were in the Laurel backfield most of the afternoon, piling up plays or turning the runners into Pete Cookson or Herb Winstead, where he was promptly smacked down. Sikes played his first games as guard and looked good there. "Burp" Cookson maintained his line crashing reputation and Donny Wolfe showed speed in skirting the ends, while Harry Leiper and Pete Austin alternating at half carried the ball for nice gains and did some fine blocking. Few pass plays were tried by Greenbelt, but Mahlon Eshbaugh and Wolfe were usually successful in locating receivers. Eshbaugh's faking and blocking were outstanding. The cheering part of this game was the improvement in line play, especially among the younger boys on the team. H. M. Goode and Jamison Flynn are going to give Sikes, Tom Berube, Winstead and other first stringers a touch fight for the starting positions.

Laurel, having had only a week's practice, showed a well-balanced team and should be tough later in the season. Nichols, Morris, and J. Baker were their best men.

Sketching Class

Tentative plans have been made to hold a sketching-class-for-fun every Wednesday evening in Room 224 as part of the adult education program. The group is to be a meeting of those who don't worry about how much talent they possess, but who just want to sketch in simple media with other interested amateurs.

"WE'D RATHER SAY YES"

We don't like to tell people that they'll have to wait to get a home telephone. We'd much rather say "yes" to requests for service. That's the way it used to be.

But the needs of war have first claim on available telephone equipment and on telephone manufacturing facilities and manpower. Delays in filling civilian orders just can't be helped.

All of us telephone people sincerely appreciate the cooperative understanding being shown by the many thousands who are waiting their turn to get service.

The Screen

Sun., Mon., Tues., Oct. 8, 9 10—“White Cliffs of Dover”.

This picture is a screen version of the Alice Dauer Miller poem but has put its particular emphasis upon the romantic aspects of the tale. It is a tribute to English gentility as only Hollywood would dare to make.

However this picture is not of the modern England, of the simple folks whose “We Can Take It” proved such a heroic inspiration in the early days of the war. Rather, this deals with the England of the grand baronial estates, of the gracious and elegant patricians and the militant old-school ties. It is a Cinderella story in a sweet disguise in which Irene Dunne and Alan Marshall are most idyllically united in the rhapsodic manner of the screen. This is a sterling silver sentimental mellow tale, a comforting film about that corner of England where weather-worn traditions stretch back for centuries.

Wed., Oct. 11—“A Star Is Born”. Recommended revival.

This is a technicolor revival of Hollywood's glamour and heart-break, where fame is an evanescent will-o'-the-wisp. Romantically distorted, yet soberly realistic.

Sat., Oct. 14—“Jam Session”.

This is recommended for musical addicts. The tempo is light and smooth and far superior to some more elaborate big-name musicals recently ground out. The specialty number, “Cherokee” by Charles Barnet's band, and Louie Armstrong's “I Can't Give You Anything But Love” are particularly well done. Ideal meat for jive.

The “Washington Workshop”, a cooperative organization showing distinguished film revivals has announced its October schedule. Films are shown Sunday evenings at 8:30 at South Agricultural auditorium. Subscription for the five Sundays is $1 at the Washington Workshop at 2020 Massachusetts ave., N. W. Oct. 1st—“Citizen Kane”; 8th—“Alexander Nevsky”; 15th—to be announced; 22nd—“Sous les Troits de Paris”; 29th—“I Had A Million” Alexander Nevsky (Directed by Eisenstein) and “Sous les Troits de Paris” (Directed by Rene Clair) are two of the all-time greats in motion picture history. Wish Greenbelt could show some of these occasionally.

Incidentally, watch for “Going My Way” at Greenbelt for four days beginning Sunday, Oct. 15.

B'nai B'rith Tea

The membership committee of the B'nai B'rith will hold a tea and social at the home of Mrs. Ann Mittledorf, 14-X Ridge rd. on October 11th, at 8:30 p. m. This is in honor of new members, and will help acquaint them with the B'nai B'rith program.

An interesting evening is planned, consisting of a welcoming address by Pres. Helen Chasanow, to be followed by games and the serving of refreshments.

Hostesses for the evening will be Chairman Lillian Schurr, Mrs. Dorothy Bogan, Mrs. Fay Dalis and Mrs. Ann Mittledorf, all of whom are on the Membership Committee.

Practical Courses Are Most Popular

With a group of 36 registrants, the class in sewing proved most popular at the first night session at the Greenbelt Adult Education Program. Courses in photography and woodworking were well attended with 15 and 16 members respectively.

The shorthand and typing course needs four more students. This class is taught by Carl Oliver, holder of a degree in Business Administration and at present head of the Business School at National Training School for Boys. Applicants must register next Monday at the latest.

Plan ‘Biggest Dance’

The Athletic Club, aided and abetted by several other town organizations, promises the “biggest dance ever held in Greenbelt” for the night of Oct. 28 at the Elementary School. Van Camp's 9-piece “Cavaliers” will play for the throngs, who are invited to attend in costume. Professional and local talent, various dance contests, and a grand march, will add to the “something doing every minute” feeling.

A thousand tickets are being printed and couples will be charged $1.50 apiece for them. Dancing will be from 10 to 1.

Folk Dance Saturday

“Fire! Fire! Fire!”

No, don't look for the nearest exit. It's just the Co-op Folk Dance Group adding “The Firemen's Dance” to their spirited repertoire.

Brisk autumn evenings are adding new zest to the weekly capers of the folk dancers, who meet every Saturday at 9:00 p. m. at the pavillion at the lake. Reels, quadrilles, old-time waltzes, polkas, schottisches, and other folk dances are the evening fare enjoyed by the rollicking reelers.

The desire for a good time is the only prerequisite. Everyone is welcome, and the dances are easy to learn. So come on folks, “shake that big foot, shy all around her” at the weekly shindig on Saturday!

“CO-OP WILL STILL GRADE LABEL FOOD”

So says the headline on a story in a recent issue of the E. L. C. Cooperator.

The battle over grade labeling is still going on. Coops are being criticised in some quarters for not having taken a firm stand on the issue. Steps were taken at the Annual Fall Conference of Co-ops in this area to get our organizations into the fight.

However, it is good to know that, regardless of the outcome of the fight, Co-ops will continue to grade-label their food.
